Dear,

A rewarding and successful Professional Editor experience at Kandahar High Court encourages me to bring my interest and commitment to your highly and esteemed Organization. I offer 6+ years' experience, dedication, and a talent for inspiring my team to achieve excellence and organizational objectives. I am confident that, if given the opportunity, I would become a valuable addition to not only the project team but also the whole organization and, what more important is, that I would meet and exceed all your expectations and requirements for the role.

I do consider myself qualified for the above position as per my academic level and work experience that I have acquired in various fields of work.

Additionally, I have Bachelor's Degree (LLB) Law & political science, and I have acquired knowledge and skills in planning, budgeting, organizing, and scheduling of activities. I am skillful in computer operations ranging from the use of office to other technology software, internet and emailing with working in the same field since 2010.

To conclude, I impatiently look forward to being considered a well-qualified candidate for the mentioned post and will be given a chance for the upcoming interview. You will find enclosed with this letter a copy of my updated CV, which provides you additional information on my background and qualifications. I would really welcome the opportunity to discuss about the position with you on the mobile or face-to-face interview.

I can be easily reachable through my mentioned mobile number or E-mail address.

Sincerely yours,

Ejaz ul Haq Lalmawal
